In equidem nihil habui antiquius, nihil exoptavi atq; expectaui magis, Viri Amplissimi: quam ut meæ singularis erga VOS observantiae, studij, atq; officij declarandi daretur opportunitas. Sed nunquam adhuc expectationi meæ respondit eventus. Quanquam enim antehac multas variasq; canti-lenas in vulgus ediderim: nulla tamen ex omnibus digna mihi visa est, quæ amplitudini vestræ inscriberetur. Nunc autem, cum opus hoc Musicum diuino munere ex ingenio meo depromptum, & longo tempore, multo labore, singulari industria elaboratum, in lucem conspectumq; hominum dare statuissem: omnino mihi faciundum existimaui, ut VOBIS quaecumq; id esset consecrarem ac dedicarem: partim, ut pro eximijs vestris beneficijs, quibus me, nihil tale pro meritum, ornastis, gratiam aliquam persoluerem; animumq; patriæ cupidissimum amantissimumq; testificarer: partim, ut nominis vestri splendore atq; autoritate o-mnem obtrectionem ac maledicentiam ab opere meo deterrerem atq; depellerem. Qua-propter Patroni summe observandi, humanitatis vestræ erit, munusculum hoc, quantu-lucumq; id est, animo benigno accipere, meq; in posterum, ut hætenus fecistis, favore ac benevolentia vestra complecti. Mihi vicissim erit curæ, ut meum aliquando studium atq; conatum majoribus in rebus planius ac plenius cognoscatis. Interim Deum opt. max. precor & precabor, ut Rempub. vestram optime constitutam ad multas seculorum ætates incolumem florentemq; conseruet ac tueatur. B.V. Augustæ Vindelicorum. Anno 1601.

XLV.

BASSVS.

Canzon noni toni.

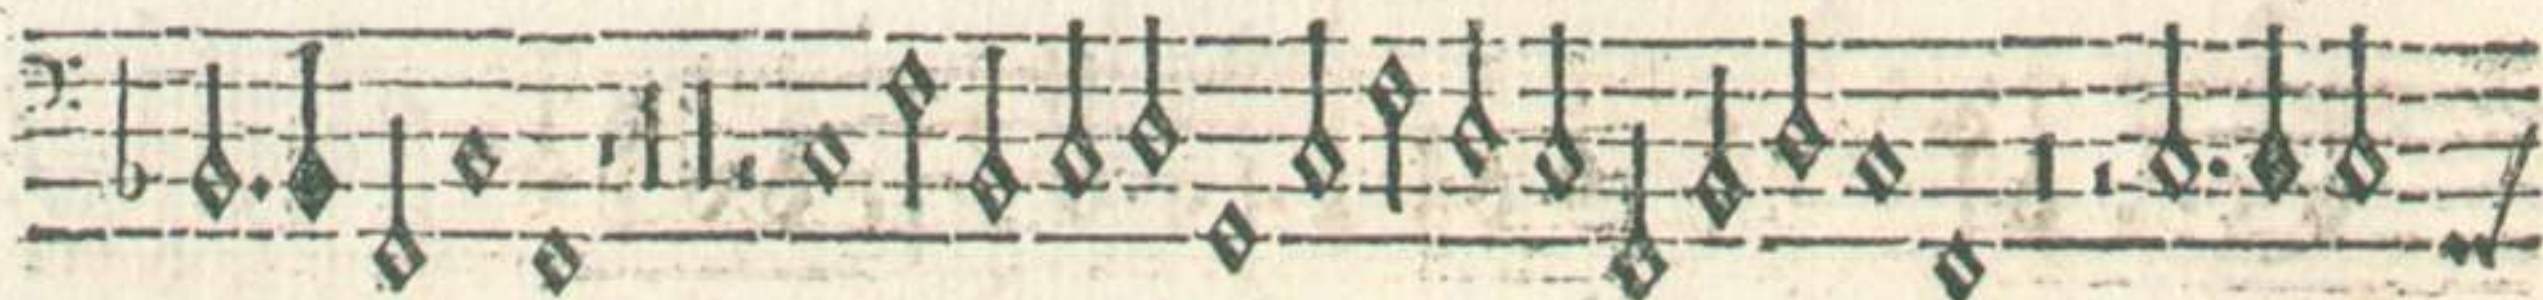

The image displays a handwritten musical score for a Bass voice part, identified as the second part of a second chorus. The notation is written on eight staves. The first seven staves contain musical notation with various notes, rests, and accidentals (sharps, flats, and naturals). The eighth staff is empty. The notation is in a historical style, likely from a 16th or 17th-century manuscript.
