Introduction

Over the last couple years, I've been arranging early music repertoire for myself to sing while playing the piano. More recently, I've been experimenting with a program that generates arrangements and practice materials automatically, for daily practice. These experiments reflect my musical habits, tastes, and abilities in the following ways: first, I enjoy practicing the same composition in various keys, with different combinations of voices (often leaving one or more voice out of the texture), in varying degrees of analytic reduction, sometimes with solfège and sometimes with lyrics; second, I enjoy having something new to practice every day; third, singing one voice while playing at most two others stretches me to the limit of my abilities as a performer and listener.

As always, I share these scores to encourage you to explore this remarkable music. You are welcome to alter the notation however you see fit, provided that you abide by the CC BY-SA 4.0 license. Finally, feel free to email me to let me know what you think of these materials.

Source details

I transcribed the composition from the La Valliere Manuscript (available on Gallica here), using Coussemaker's transcription (available on IMSLP here) for reference. See page 4 for a reproduction.

Technical notes

I used the following tools to produce this PDF:

- MuseScore to typeset the music notation and generate MusicXML files;
- Music21 (and Python more generally) to automate the MusicXML processing (which, in addition to transposing, rearranging, and merging the composition excerpts, now includes generating the solfège syllables for them as well);
- eSpeak to draft the IPA transcription.
