The musical score is written for piano and consists of six systems of two staves each. The key signature has one flat (B-flat) and the time signature is 2/4. The score includes various musical notations such as notes, rests, and dynamic markings like mf and ff. There are also first and second endings marked with '1.' and '2.'. The piece concludes with the word 'Fine.'.

Trio.

The first system of musical notation for the Trio section. It consists of a grand staff with a treble and bass clef. The key signature has two flats (B-flat and E-flat), and the time signature is 2/4. The music begins with a forte (f) dynamic and features several accents (>) over the notes. The first measure contains a complex chord with a sharp sign (#) above it. The system concludes with a piano (p) dynamic marking.

The second system of musical notation, continuing the piece. It maintains the 2/4 time signature and two-flat key signature. The texture is characterized by dense chords in the right hand and a steady eighth-note accompaniment in the left hand.

The third system of musical notation, marked with a first ending bracket labeled "1.". It includes an accent (>) over a note in the final measure of the first ending. The system ends with a repeat sign.

The fourth system of musical notation, marked with a second ending bracket labeled "2.". It features a fortissimo (ff) dynamic marking in the final measure of the second ending. The system concludes with a repeat sign.

The fifth system of musical notation, continuing the musical piece. It follows the same key signature and time signature, with dense chordal textures in both hands.

The sixth system of musical notation, featuring first and second endings labeled "1." and "2.". The first ending leads back to an earlier section, while the second ending provides an alternative conclusion. The system ends with a repeat sign.

BARITONE.

3076. White's Complete Method of Instruction for the Baritone or Bb Tenor and Bb Bass. Price of the complete work, 3.00

Students of the Baritone have heretofore labored under the serious disadvantage of being without a method of instruction such as the importance of the instrument seemed to merit—a want which this work is designed to supply. The expense attending the issuing of so extensive a work has prevented the earlier appearance of a Method for the Baritone in any way approximating to this in completeness and value to the student, and the publisher takes peculiar pride in presenting the First Complete Method published in America.

3153. Arban's New and Complete Method for the B flat Baritone, B flat Tenor, B flat Valve Trombone, and B flat Bass. In Treble Clef. Price, net, 2.00

This elaborate work is designed to supply a want which has long been a serious disadvantage to students, and is a Text-book which will be found fully equal to the demands and importance of the instruments of which it treats. The vast expense attendant upon the issuing of such a work has not deterred the publisher from carrying into effect his idea of placing before the public the most exhaustive volume on the subject ever printed, and, judging from his experience in previous similar ventures, he anticipates a thorough appreciation of his efforts to serve the rising generation of musicians. Nothing has been omitted in the preparation of the work that care, time and money could supply. It ranges in its studies from the simplest rudiments to the highest grades of artistic music, and will be found equal in accuracy and completeness to any musical instruction book, and superior to all in its especial department of study.
